EGB 5 4

They aren't milkmen, they're barbers. Number two hundred. What are their jobs? Are they nurses? They aren't nurses, they're typists.

Look at lesson twenty. Look and listen. Do not speak.

Look at number a hundred and five. Look at that boy's shoes. Are they dirty? They're not dirty, they're clean.

Number two hundred and seventeen. Look at those postmen. Are they cold? They're not cold, they're hot.

Number three hundred and twenty-one. Look at those barbers. Are they thin? They're not thin, they're fat.

Now you answer the questions. Ready? Look at number a hundred and five. Look at that boy's shoes.

Are they dirty? They're not dirty, they're clean. Number two hundred and seventeen. Look at those postmen.

Are they cold? They're not cold, they're hot. Number three hundred and twenty-one. Look at those barbers.

Are they thin? They're not thin, they're fat. Number four hundred and thirty-three. Look at those shoes.

Are they small? They're not small, they're big. Number five hundred and forty-five. Look at those shops.

Are they shut? They're not shut, they're open. Number six hundred and fifty-seven. Look at those cases.

Are they heavy? They're not heavy, they're light. Number seven hundred and sixty-nine. Look at grandmother and grandfather.

Are they young? They're not young, they're old. Number eight hundred and eighty-one. Look at those hats.

Are they new? They're not new, they're old. Number nine hundred and ninety-nine. Look at those policemen.

Are they short? They're not short, they're tall. Number one thousand. Look at those trousers.

Are they long? They're not long, they're short. Look at lesson twenty-two. Look and listen.

Do not speak. Look at numbers one thousand and one and one thousand and two. Give me a cup, please.

Which one? This dirty one? No, not this dirty one. That clean one. Numbers one thousand and three and one thousand and four.

Give me a glass, please. Which one? That full one? No, not that full one. This empty one.

Numbers one thousand and five and one thousand and six. Give me a bottle, please. Which one? This large one? No, not this large one.

That small one. Now you do the same. Ready? Look at numbers one thousand and one and one thousand and two.

Give me a cup, please. Which one? This dirty one? No, not this dirty one. That clean one.

Numbers one thousand and three and one thousand and four. Give me a glass, please. Which one? That full one? No, not that full one.

This empty one. Numbers one thousand and five and one thousand and six. Give me a bottle, please.

Which one? This large one? No, not this large one. That small one. Numbers one thousand and seven and one thousand and eight.

Give me a box, please. Which one? That little one? No, not that little one. This big one.

Numbers one thousand and nine and one thousand and ten. Give me a tin, please. Which one? This new one? No, not this new one.

That old one. Numbers one thousand and eleven and one thousand and twelve. Give me a knife, please.

Which one? That blunt one? No, not that blunt one. This sharp one. Numbers one thousand and thirteen and one thousand and fourteen.

Give me a spoon, please. Which one? This new one? No, not this new one. That old one.

Numbers one thousand and fifteen and one thousand and sixteen. Give me a fork, please. Which one? That small one? No, not that small one.

This large one. Look and listen. Do not speak.

Look at number one thousand one hundred and seventeen. Give me some pens, please. Which ones? The ones on the desk.

Number one thousand two hundred and eighteen. Give me some ties, please. Which ones? The ones on the chair.

Number one thousand three hundred and nineteen. Give me some spoons, please. Which ones? The ones on the table.

Now you do the same. Ready? Look at number one thousand one hundred and seventeen. Give me some pens, please.

Which ones? The ones on the desk. Number one thousand two hundred and eighteen. Give me some ties, please.

Which ones? The ones on the chair. Number one thousand three hundred and nineteen. Give me some spoons, please.

Which ones? The ones on the table. Number one thousand four hundred and twenty. Give me some plates, please.

Which ones? The ones on the sideboard. Number one thousand five hundred and twenty-one. Give me some cigarettes, please.

Which ones? The ones on the television. Number one thousand six hundred and twenty-two. Give me some boxes, please.

Which ones? The ones on the floor. Number one thousand seven hundred and twenty-three. Give me some bottles, please.

Which ones? The ones on the dressing table. Number one thousand eight hundred and twenty-four. Give me some books, please.

Which ones? The ones on the shelf. Number one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five. Give me some magazines, please.

Which ones? The ones on the bed. Number two thousand. Give me some newspapers, please.

Which ones? The ones on the radio. Look at lesson twenty-six. Look and listen.

Do not speak. Look at number three thousand. Is there a clean cup on the floor? No, there isn't one on the floor.

There's a clean one on the table. Number four thousand. Is there a large box on the shelf? No, there isn't one on the shelf.

There's a large one on the floor. Number five thousand. Is there an empty glass in the refrigerator? No, there isn't one in the refrigerator.

There's an empty one in the sideboard. Now you answer the questions. Ready? Look at number three thousand.

Is there a clean cup on the floor? No, there isn't one on the floor. There's a clean one on the table. Number four thousand.

Is there a large box on the shelf? No, there isn't one on the shelf. There's a large one on the floor. Number five thousand.

Is there an empty glass in the refrigerator? No, there isn't one in the refrigerator. There's an empty one in the sideboard. Number six thousand.

Is there a sharp knife on the tin? No, there isn't one on the tin. There's a sharp one on the plate. Number seven thousand.

Is there a dirty fork on the plate? No, there isn't one on the plate. There's a dirty one on the tin. No, there isn't one in the sideboard.

There's a full one in the refrigerator. Number nine thousand. Is there a blunt pencil on the table? No, there isn't one on the table.

There's a blunt one on the desk. Number ten thousand. Is there a small spoon in the glass? No, there isn't one in the glass.

There's a small one in the cup. Look at lesson twenty-eight. Look and listen.

Do not speak. Look at number one thousand one hundred and twenty. Are there any books on the dressing table? No, there aren't any books.

There are some cigarettes. Where are they? They're near that box. Number five thousand five hundred and sixty.

Are there any ties on the floor? No, there aren't any ties. There are some shoes. Where are they? They're near the bed.

Number eight thousand eight hundred and ninety. Are there any glasses on the sideboard? No, there aren't any glasses. There are some bottles.

Where are they? They're near those tins. Now you answer the questions. Ready? Look at number one thousand one hundred and twenty.

Are there any books on the dressing table? No, there aren't any books. There are some cigarettes. Where are they? They're near that box.

Number five thousand five hundred and sixty. Are there any ties on the floor? No, there aren't any ties. There are some shoes.

Where are they? They're near the bed. Number eight thousand eight hundred and ninety. Are there any glasses on the sideboard? No, there aren't any glasses.

There are some bottles. Where are they? They're near those tins. Number nine thousand nine hundred and ninety-nine.

Are there any newspapers on the shelf? No, there aren't any newspapers. There are some tickets. Where are they? They're in that handbag.

Number six thousand six hundred and seventy. Are there any forks on the table? No, there aren't any forks. There are some knives.

Where are they? They're in that box. Number ten thousand and one. Are there any cups on the radio? No, there aren't any cups.

There are some glasses. Where are they? They're near those bottles. Look at number two.

Open. Open your desk. Number six.

Put on. Put on your watch. Number thirteen.

Turn on. Turn on the light. Number one.

Shut. Shut your handbag. Number seven.

Take off. Take off your shoes. Number fourteen.

Turn off. Turn off the tap. Number nineteen.

Sweep. Sweep the bedroom. Number twenty-one.

Clean. Clean the windows. Number twenty-four.

Dust. Dust the sideboard. Number thirty.

Empty. Empty the suitcase. Number thirty-two.

Read. Read this magazine. Number thirty-four.

Sharpen. Sharpen these pencils. Look at lesson thirty-two.

Look and listen. Do not speak. Look at this jack putting on his shirt.

No, he isn't putting on his shirt. What's he doing? He's reading a magazine. Number seventy-thousand.

Is the dog drinking its milk? No, it isn't drinking its milk. What's it doing? It's eating a bone. Now you answer the questions.

Ready? Look at number twenty-thousand. Read. What's she doing? She's typing a letter.

Number ninety-thousand. Is Jack putting on his shirt? No, he isn't putting on his shirt. What's he doing? He's reading a magazine.

Number seventy-thousand. Is the dog drinking its milk? No, it isn't drinking its milk. What's it doing? It's eating a bone.

Number eighty-thousand. Is your sister emptying the basket? No, she isn't emptying the basket. What's she doing? She's looking at a picture.

Number six hundred thousand. Is Tim cleaning his teeth? No, he isn't cleaning his teeth. What's he doing? He's sharpening a pencil.

Number four hundred thousand. Is the cat eating? No, it isn't eating. What's it doing? It's drinking its milk.

Number sixty-thousand. Is Sally dusting the dressing table? No, she isn't dusting the dressing table. What's she doing? She's shutting the door.

Number forty-thousand. Is Mr. Richards turning on the light? No, he isn't turning on the light. What's he doing? He's opening the window.

Look at lesson thirty-four. Look and listen. Do not speak.

Look at number two hundred and twenty thousand, two hundred and thirty-one. What are the cooks doing? Are they washing dishes? No, they aren't washing dishes. They're cooking.

Number three hundred and thirty-one thousand, three hundred and forty-two. What are the children doing? Are they crying? No, they aren't crying. They're sleeping.

Number four hundred and forty-two thousand, four hundred and fifty-three. What are the men doing? Are they cooking? No, they aren't cooking. They're shaving.

Now you answer the questions. Ready? Look at number two hundred and twenty thousand, two hundred and thirty-one. What are the cooks doing? Are they washing dishes? No, they aren't washing dishes.

They're cooking. Number three hundred and thirty-one thousand, three hundred and forty-two. What are the children doing? Are they crying? No, they aren't crying.

They're sleeping. Number four hundred and forty-two thousand, four hundred and fifty-three. What are the men doing? Are they cooking? No, they aren't cooking.

They're shaving. Number five hundred and fifty-three thousand, five hundred and sixty-four. What are the children doing? Are they sleeping? No, they aren't sleeping.

They're crying. Number six hundred and sixty-four thousand, six hundred and seventy-five. What are the dogs doing? Are they drinking milk? No, they aren't drinking milk.

They're eating bones. Number seven hundred and seventy-five thousand, seven hundred and eighty-six. What are the women doing? Are they airing the room? No, they aren't airing the room.

They're typing letters. Number eight hundred and eighty-